DID YOU KNOW?

Approximately 7.8% of high school softball players go on to play at the collegiate level across all divisions (NCAA, NAIA, NJCAA). This includes all levels of college play, with the largest number of opportunities available at the NCAA Division 3 and NAIA levels. If you're aiming for Division 1, the percentage is lower, around 1.6%.

DID YOU KNOW?

Starting in the 2025-2026 academic year if the NCAA proposed settlement is approved, D1 softball programs will be allowed to offer up to 25 scholarships per year, a significant increase from the current maximum of 12. These scholarships can still be a mix of full-ride and partial awards. However, keep in mind that not all D1 softball programs are fully funded, so some schools might not offer the full 25 scholarships. The 25 scholarships represent the new maximum limit allowed under the updated NCAA rules.

TopDogPerformanceCenter.com

DID YOU KNOW?

NCAA Division 2 softball programs are allowed to offer up to 7.2 scholarships per team. However, these scholarships are typically divided among multiple athletes, meaning most players receive partial rather than full scholarships.

TopDogPerformanceCenter.com

DID YOU KNOW?

Yes, D2 schools can offer full-ride scholarships. However, because they are deemed an equivalency sport by the NCAA, they are not required to give out full rides. It's up to the coach to determine how much money they want to give to each athlete on the team.
